

VOX Books, the Books that Talk, are now also the Books that Sing!

- These all-time favorites are great for cross-generational engagement
 - The series is produced in house by a GRAMMY™ nominee
 - Music has literacy learning benefits, and supports STEAM education
 - The recordings are timed for reading while keeping their musicality
- These books are just FUN

Musician Fun Facts!

Pedal steel player Wayne Hobbs (“If Not For You”, “Dock of the Bay”) played for years with country legend Marty Robbins.

“Good Vibrations” is performed by Matt Jardine, son of The Beach Boys founding member Al Jardine. Matt tours with Brian Wilson. The cello is played by Michael Ronstadt, Linda Ronstadt’s nephew.

Cristian Ganicenko (“These Boots Are Made for Walkin’”, “African”) is the principal trombonist in the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.
